

GUESTS ON KALEIDOSCOPE: 29 August and 1 September 2018

Ray Trowbridge *Lester Wong *Howard Parkinson * Abdul Nanou

Ray Trowbridge, as President of the Adelaide Repertory Theatre brings a backstage view of their next production Rules for Living, opening at the Arts Theatre on August 30. It's a satirical play about family relationships written by Sam Holcroft.

Lester Wong, a very busy violinist, talks about Bronze Wing Quartet's next concert at the Living Choice in Fullerton. The music includes Mendelssohn and lots of tangos. A good way to spend father's Day with the family. September 15 at 2.30pm

Howard Parkinson is the principal Bass trombone in the ASO as well as head of Brass at Elder Conservatorium. Who better to conduct the Adelaide Wind Orchestra in an all brass and percussion concert at Concordia Chapel, Highgate, 2 September, 2.30pm.

Abdul Nanou came to Adelaide from Syria and Dubai, with his violin. He had an established career there and is now building a reputation here as a player of both Syrian and Western music. You can hear him at the Capri Theatre on September 1 3.00pm before seeing a film of an Andre Rieu Maastricht concert.

Kaleidoscope on Wednesday at 6.00pm and Saturday at 11.00 am

Or listen to the podcast.

