

KALEIDOSCOPE: 18 and 21 March 2020

*Natsuko Yoshimoto

*Anthony Hunt

Natsuko Yoshimoto has been the Concert master of the Adelaide Symphony Orchestra for the last ten years. At the end of 2020 she will be leaving, and she talks about what being a concert master actually entails, her approach to music, and particularly the Brahms Violin Concerto which she will perform as soloist with the ASO on the 3 and 4 April at the Adelaide Town Hall.

Anthony Hunt completed his music studies in Adelaide and then moved to Sydney work with Opera Australia, where he was the Chorus Master for a number of years. He has returned to Adelaide to take up the position of Master of Music and Chorus master with SA State Opera, as well as being in charge of music at St Peters Cathedral. His first task with SA Opera is to train the chorus for Carmina Burana on 27 March at the Adelaide Tennis Centre.

Kaleidoscope: Wednesday at 6.00pm and repeated Saturday 11.00am
