

Guests on Kaleidoscope 29 April and 2 May 2020

Kathy Selby

Jonathon Glonek

While Selby and friends have had to cancel their national tour they have not sat idle. Check the Selby and Friends website for full details of all the music that they have made available on line. The May concert 'Let's get personal' has been recorded as a performance, with extensive interviews with the players, and is available, free for ticket holders, while it is possible to buy a ticket on line. Apart from that Selby&friends at Home Youtube is making performances from their archives available. Certainly worth exploring. You can also check their Facebook.

Violinist Jonathon Glonek is used to performing in grand music venues overseas as well as more humble settings in rural areas of Australia. Maybe there is none more humble than Bendoc in Victoria, where Jonathon now finds himself self isolating on a small farm, and where he has formed the Bendoc Philharmonic, with one member, himself. He is recording Bach on Youtube and you can catch that on:

Otherwise he is playing scales, Bach and Paganini and any other music that takes his fancy, as the cows meander past.

Kaleidoscope: Wednesday at 6.00pm: repeated Saturday 11.00am
