

Kaleidoscope 26 and 29 August 2020

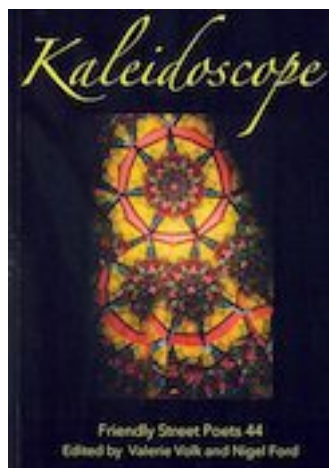

Julian Cochran

Valerie Volk

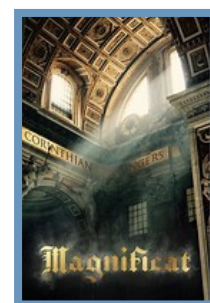

Cathy Cox

Julian Cochran, an Australian composer, now living in Monaco, talks about his approach to composing and why his music is so accepted in Russia and Eastern Europe.

Valerie Volk, poet and novelist, is one of the editors of the latest anthology from Friendly Street Poets. The title is Kaleidoscope, and it has more than 170 poems from local poets.

Cathy Cox is a member of the Corinthian Singers, who are presenting Magnificat, with music by Durante, Purcell and Vivaldi, on September 13, 3.00pm at St John's Church, Halifax Street. You can book through Trybooking.

Kaleidoscope: Wednesday at 6.00pm: repeated Saturday 11.00am
